PRESS RELEASE

Northwood Stays Blue to Honour Those Lost Northwood Halifax Campus

On July 24th, Northwood lit the blue lights in support of Operation Bluenose. Northwood was proud to take part in the three-night virtual vigil. For three nights, structures across Nova Scotia illuminated in blue lights to recognize the strength of Nova Scotians and to honour lives lost. The last four months have been very emotional for Nova Scotians. Our Northwood family has seen unimaginable challenges throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

To remember the residents lost during COVID-19, Northwood will keep the blue lights shining each night to honour one resident who passed. In some small way, we hope this virtual vigil will help heal hearts. The Northwood buildings facing Gottingen Street will remain lit in blue lights until September 21st. Staff and onlookers have expressed their heartfelt support for this silent display of love.

Special thanks to FMAV Audio Visual. This beautiful lighting display would not have been possible without their amazing team.

What: Northwood Stays Blue to Honor those lost to COVID-19

WHEN: Wednesday, July 28, 2020

WHERE: Northwood, Gottingen Street

“As we come together as a community and remember the people who died during the outbreak, we honour the light of each life lost.”
